

Brittany Ng

(Associate)

Brittany devotes the majority of her practice to conducting impartial workplace investigations for public and private employers throughout the state. A member of the Association of Workplace Investigators, she has investigated sensitive allegations against high-level leaders in several organizations.

Prior to joining Shaw Law Group, Brittany worked as in-house counsel for a certification board, where she assisted with investigations and oversaw the implementation of disciplinary action against certificate holders and applicants. She also previously worked as a litigator, specializing in professional liability defense.

Brittany attended law school at the University of California, Hastings, and received her Bachelor's degree from the University of California, San Diego.

On the weekends you can find Brittany: enjoying time with her furry and not-so-furry children!
